

Having welcomed four million visitors to date, the Oklahoma City National Memorial and Museum marks the 10th anniversary of the first major terrorist attack on American soil.

Many events will surround April 19, 2005 – inviting the world to remember this day.

As the 2007 Oklahoma Centennial approaches, cities and communities statewide are planning events with a momentous sense of optimism and pride.

TULSA
One Of America's 10 Most Underrated Destinations
— Fodor's, 2002

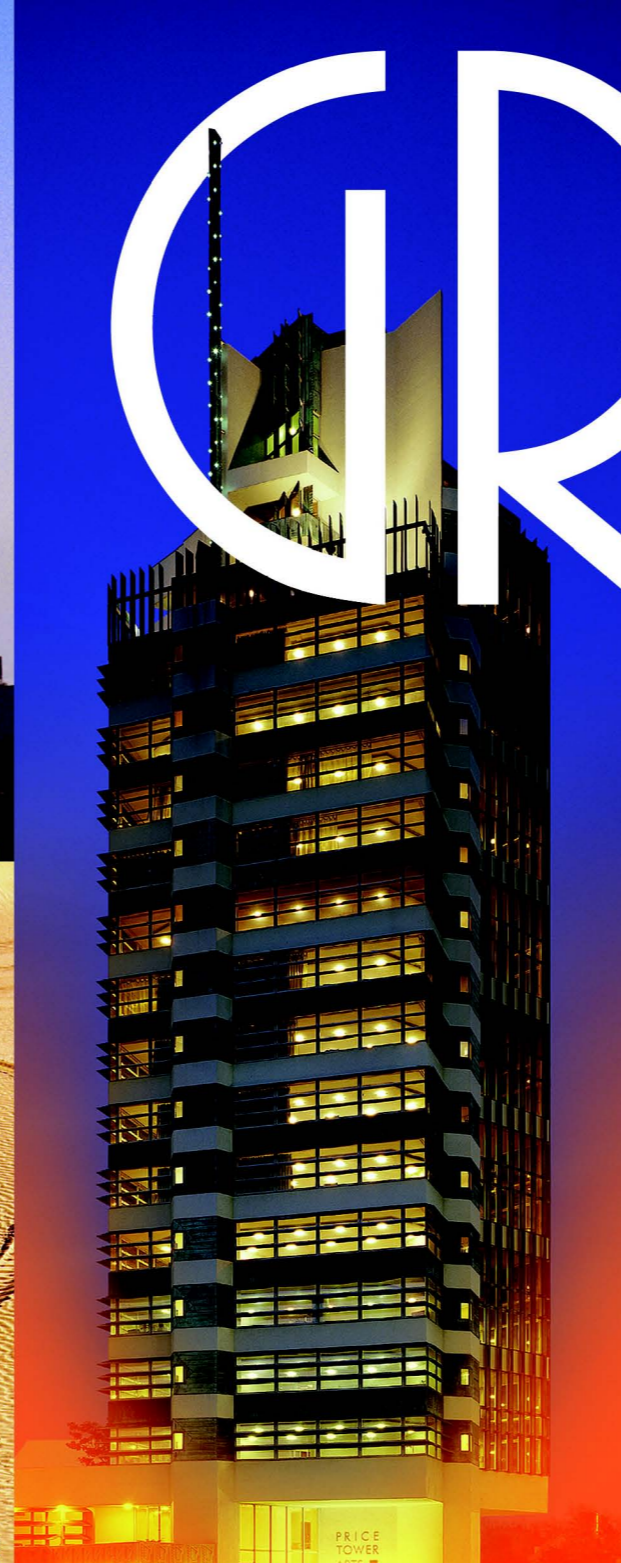

LAWTON
America's First Wildlife Preserve:
Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge

STATEWIDE
America's Most Diverse Terrain
— #1 EPA Ranking (mile-per-mile basis)

Little Sahara, Waynoka

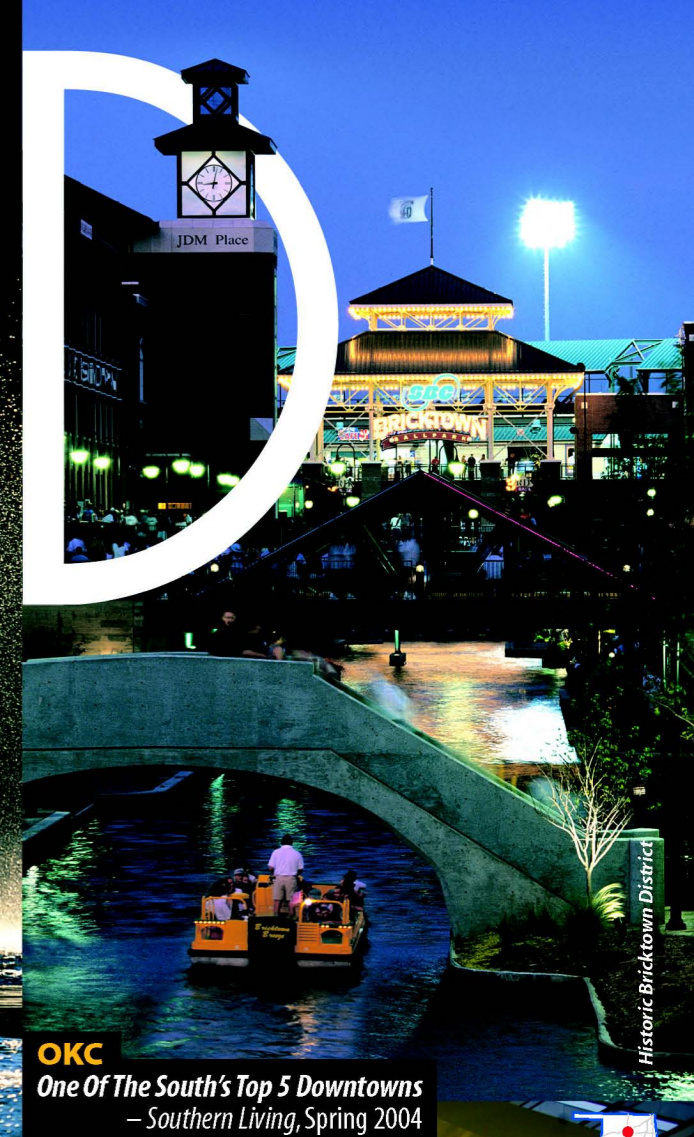

BARTLESVILLE
World's Only Frank Lloyd Wright Skyscraper:
Price Tower Arts Center

Publicity rights to Frank Lloyd Wright's name, likeness, and work belong to the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, Scottsdale, Arizona. Used with permission. Tower photo by Christian Korab, © 2003 Price Tower Arts Center

STATEWIDE
More Miles Of Shoreline Than The
East And Gulf Coasts Combined

Grand Lake, Grove

OKC
One Of The South's Top 5 Downtowns
— Southern Living, Spring 2004

Historic Bricktown District

Oklahoma City Museum Of Art

OKLAHOMA