

OKLAHOMA ROUTE 66
MAP #18

Officially, Route 66 through downtown Tulsa first followed 2nd, Detroit, 7th,* Cheyenne, and 11th St. to a connection with Maybelle (obliterated by the present interchange), then crossed the 1916 11th St. Bridge. Until the mid-1950s, Southwest Blvd. was Quanh Ave. on the south side of the Arkansas River. (* A 1927 AAA map shows 7th all the way to Maybelle, however this routing remains unverified.)

In 1933, Route 66 was relocated from the 2nd St. & Admiral Place alignment to 11th St. from downtown eastward to the intersection with Mingo Road, as depicted on Part 1 of the Tulsa map.

In 1959, I-44 (Skelly Drive) became mainline 66, and the 11th St. route (west of its junction with I-44) became Bus. 66 until it was deleted altogether in 1973. Bus. 66 west of Denver Ave. was shifted from 11th St. to 12th St. in the wake of Interstate I-444 construction.
