

Thousands participate in International Walk to School Day in Oklahoma
October 5, 2011
PR# 11-060

Elementary and middle school students at more than 95 schools throughout Oklahoma joined schoolchildren from across the U.S. and in over 40 countries in celebrating International Walk to School Day Wednesday.

The Oklahoma Department of Transportation Safe Routes to School Program, which sponsored the events in Oklahoma, estimates that over 50,000 students participated in Walk to School Day statewide.

Walk to School events aim to emphasize the importance of increasing physical activity among children, pedestrian safety, traffic congestion, concern for the environment and building connections between families, schools and the community. The annual event also helps bring attention to the need for safe walking and biking facilities to and from schools in local communities.

This year's International Walk to School Day was expected to include participants from schools in all 50 states, Washington D.C. and Puerto Rico, as well as groups from over 40 countries around the world.

The Walk to School Day events in Oklahoma are being sponsored by ODOT's Safe Routes to School federal grant program. By participating, schools and communities can further identify what is needed to make walking and biking to school an easier and safer alternative. Schools can then apply for infrastructure and educational grant money to address these issues through ODOT's Safe Routes to School Program.

The Safe Routes to School Program makes federal funding available for a wide variety of individual programs and projects, from building safer street crossings to establishing educational programs that encourage children and their parents to walk and bicycle safely to school.
